

Camille Tucker's Superpower Tips...

I've Got
SCARS
Baby!

(Part 1)

- Authenticity is key
- Putting your “All” into whatever you do makes a difference in how its received by others.
- Sometimes it takes a “desert experience” to find your voice/your true self.
- Come to a place of peace about “outward success” if you have not seen it yet.
- Sometimes its just not your “time” yet. Things may have to shift around you to usher in your success.
- Sometimes the “desert season” is the very time you need to learn lessons that can serve you in the future.

(Part 2)

- Your identity is not in the “job” you do...there are many more layers to you.
- Work on your craft
- Its not a sprint...it’s a marathon!
- Would you still do your craft if you had to sell puka shells on the seashore to earn a living? ·

For more info about Camille visit: www.CamilleTucker.com

For more I've Got Scars Baby! guest interviews: Click Here

Camille Tucker's Superpower Tips...

I've Got
SCARS
Baby!

- Have you truly honed your craft?
- Take criticism early on so you are fully prepared for the next level.
- Be committed to the purpose you said you are here to do.
- Everyone has to go back to the tool shed from time to time because art is subjective.
- Get feedback from people you trust.

(Part 3)

- Take some time to hear from God
- Your timing may not be God's timing
- How are you growing while you are waiting?
- How are you showing up in life? Do you have a good attitude?
- Have patience.
- Be sure to check in with God to verify that a situation is for you.

For more info about Camille visit: www.CamilleTucker.com

For more I've Got Scars Baby! guest interviews: Click Here